If your community should suffer a crisis
Therapy Dogs of Vermont
Crisis Response Program has therapy dog teams who are here to help!

Therapy Dogs of Vermont has a program that certifies selected volunteer teams (a handler and their dog) who are available to respond to the needs of communities as they cope with and recover from sudden loss or tragedy.

At the invitation of community leaders or organizations, we will reach out to our volunteer teams and coordinate visits, to provide comfort and support to you and your community.

Therapy Dogs of Vermont, established in 1992, has had teams serving their communities in Vermont, neighboring states, Canada, and beyond. We have been unleashing smiles on faces and in hearts of people in schools, hospitals, nursing homes, and a variety of other scenarios.

We now have a select group of experienced registered therapy dogs and specially trained handlers who are available to provide comfort to people and communities who have suffered a tragic loss of a student, colleague, friend, or community member.
